

Hello, again. from St. Francis

We'd like to introduce two people who are working here at the Center. In them we see much of the future of our mission.

John Enoch has been guiding the Bible School children for three years. He is loved, respected and influential. This summer, John ran the entire school program because our director was called away. He was superb. He is now the "Big Boss" to our kids.

Dave Baker, here since July, has made his way warmly into the hearts of the children and of our neighbors. His positive and pleasant "aura" spills onto everyone, a healing prescription for a down-cast street. David is the Music Director for the Bible School Choir. Our Bible School has been visiting nursing homes. The residents love it. The Choir will bring our music to their hearts.

BROKEN GLASS

Broken glass . . .

broken dreams
broken lives.

With shattered hopes,
tearful eyes.

Where is the hope?

What happened to dreams?

All the lives are shattered,
ripped apart at the seams,
destroyed in a fatal scene. . . .

This excerpt is part of a poem David wrote when first he saw our street. There is truth here. There is place for healer here. Is that not what we are about?

Enjoy the fall colors. God is profligate.

Fr. Tom ;
